The Terrorism Risk Insurance Extension Act (TRIA Extension) of 2005 provides for partial reimbursement by the United States for insured workers compensation losses due to foreign terrorism. Additional insurer loss liability exists under the TRIA Extension because the TRIA Extension provides partial reimbursement. In addition, the TRIA Extension is scheduled to expire at year-end 2007. Additional liability also exists for domestic terrorism.

The rates on Exhibit III do not include a provision for this exposure. Effective February 1, 2003 an endorsement entitled Terrorism Risk Insurance Act Endorsement (WC 00 04 20) must be attached to all Michigan residual market policies; and, as of this date a surcharge of 1 cent per 100 dollars of payroll will be assessed on all new and renewal policies in the Michigan pool.
